

Strengthening the educational continuum

As an anchor institution, ASU's primary contribution to community and economic development is through improvements in public education and by supporting all learners. As society changes, the spectrum of support must also evolve, lending itself to a new, more inclusive vision for the future of higher education. For this reason, ASU strengthens and invests in the continuum of lifelong learning.

A steadfast commitment to education

For the sixth year, ASU has been recognized on the President's Higher Education Community Service Honor Roll — the highest federal recognition a university can receive for its commitment to volunteering, service learning and civic engagement. In 2015, ASU was one of four finalists in the Education category for our relentless efforts to strengthen pre-K–14 continuum.
